FACILITATOR GUIDE

Feedback workshop

75 to 110 minutes · participants of one village or cluster, 10 to 25 people

If time is short, keep the handover of the sheets and certificates, then the peer interviews.

Ground rules

- Rotate roles if short on staff. Observers can also prompt during peer interviews.
- There are no wrong answers, especially in the read-aloud and pictogram parts.
- Encourage participation from quieter people.
- Keep time, but allow space for honest reflection when the group is engaged.

1. Kick-off

5 to 10 min

Short welcome. Who we are, why we are here, how long it takes.

2. The concluded trial

5 to 10 min

Explain the objective, the process and the scope of the trial. Remind everyone that each farm tested three options out of 6, assigned at random.

3. Feedback sheet explanation and handover

20 to 25 min

Explain the structure and purpose of the farmer feedback sheet and hand one to each participant.

- Go through one sheet section by section. The three options, the own ranking next to the ranking of everyone, the position of the options in the full ranking.
- Ask participants to find their own best option on the sheet and read it aloud.
- Explain that the results are the farmers' own judgements, not measured yield.

4. Group discussion by preference

5 to 10 min

Divide participants into small groups by the option they ranked first.

- Why did you choose this option? What stood out in its performance?
- How did the trial results match your expectations?
- What are your next steps with what you learned?
- Make sure each group member has a chance to speak.

5. Group presentations

15 to 20 min

- Each group presents its top preferences and the reasoning behind them.
- Invite questions and comments from the other groups.

6. Overall results

10 to 15 min

Present the results of the whole trial in a simple visual format, using the community flyer.

- Explain why every farm tested a different set of three, and why that gives valid results for all options together.
- Emphasise that the trial involved 18 farms. It is a community effort.
- State clearly that the tested options may not be released or available for some time.

7. Certificate handover

5 min

Hand the certificate of participation to each farmer. Call them by name.

8. Net promoter score

5 to 10 min

Ask: how likely are you to recommend this feedback sheet and session to another farmer, from 0 to 10? Collect the answers on a show of hands or on paper.

9. Closing

5 min

Thank participants for their time and contributions. Say what happens next and when they hear from the project again.

Bring

- One feedback sheet per participant, plus a few blank copies
- One certificate per participant
- Community flyers, one per household
- Flip chart or printed results for step 6
- Attendance list
- Pens and paper for the net promoter score
